2023 GERMANIA

Germania, the heroine of our flagship series, continues her journey in 2023 and begins an adventure on the mainland. The unexplored land is filled not only with lush vegetation, but also with mysterious signs - carved in rock magical runes, carrying prophecies.... What do they mean and where did they come from? This is a question we will all soon learn the answer to. This year's issue introduces innovation - the obverse changes the image of our heroine, who, traversing the unknown land, eventually plunges her imperial sword Reichsschwert into the ground.

2021 GERMANIA

Lady Germania, in a daring pose on the bow of a sailing vessel, appears to be leading her people on an expedition into broad waters. Traditionally, crowned with a laurel wreath, she is clad in her armor and falling cloth. In her hands she wields the imperial sword (Reichsschwert) and a flag fluttering in the wind. What makes the 2021 coin extraordinary, is the broadening perspective of the obverse on the subsequent coins in the series - 1, 2, 10 oz and 1 kg. The reverse of the 2021 coin remains unchanged, presenting the Germania Mint effigy with a two-headed eagle holding lightning bolts, surrounded by olive branches.

2020 GERMANIA

The 2020 Germania coin's design was chosen by the Collectors in an online voting. The silhouette of the feminine personification of Germania on the 2020 coin is depicted in a dignified pose with a windblown cape. Lady Germania is accompanied here by the two-headed eagle – a symbol from Germanic mythology, associated with Janus, the god of all origins, guardian of doors, gates, passages and bridges, the patron of contracts and alliances. The reverse of the 2020 coin was refreshed, while the largest changes in enrichment of details concern the eagle.

2019 GERMANIA

The obverse of the 2019 Germania coin presents a beautiful woman with long, flowing hair, dressed in a wind-blown dress, with a victory symbolizing laurel wreath on her head. The Amazon wields an imperial sword (Reichsschwert) and a medieval shield with the image of a two-headed eagle, which is also the main motif of the coin's reverse. The eagle's heads facing the opposite symbolize the past and the future. The lightning bolts held in the claws of an eagle are a divine attribute, symbolizing strength and the power of creation and destruction.

ALLEGORIES

ALLEGORIES: POLONIA & GERMANIA

The coin presents the personifications of Polonia and Germania, depicted as young and beautiful women. In the past, the female figure embodying the Kingdom of Poland was considered to be imbued with divinity. In the artistic vision of Germania Mint, she is holding a large shield with an eagle (symbol of victory and strength). The eagle has been part of our emblem since the first Polish city was founded. Lady Polonia head's adorned with a crown, a symbol of kings, while Germania is crowned with a branch of an oak, the tree that has accompanied her from the very beginning of the series.

ALLEGORIES: AUSTRIA & GERMANIA

The obverse of the coin presents the personifications of Austria and Germania, depicted as young and beautiful women. In the past, Lady Austria was regarded as the epitome of the multi-ethnic country... In the artistic vision of Germania Mint, she is holding a spear, which symbolizes the axis of the world, power, dignity and honour. Austria's head is decorated with a laurel wreath, whilst Germania, with her imperial sword, is crowned with a branch of an oak. Closeness between the two germanic amazons represents friendship between both cultures.

ALLEGORIES: ITALIA & GERMANIA

This Allegories coin portrays the figures of Germania and Italia - a young woman with long, curly hair and pleated dress, highlighting her femininity. Her head surrounded by a mural crown completed by towers, represents an emblem of tutelary deities, who watch over a city. The Horn of Plenty by Italia's side symbolizes prosperity and wealth. As with every coin in the collection, the heroine is accompanied by the personification of Germania. Both women stand close to each other with Germania's hand on Italia's shoulder - a symbol of friendship between cultures.

ALLEGORIES: COLUMBIA & GERMANIA

Germania Mint presents a modern interpretation of both poetic personifications of America and the ancient Germanic land. In the second chapter of The Allegories, the coin's obverse includes the feminine symbols of the United States and Germania walk together towards the future, symbolizing the common European past and tradition. In tern, the coin's reverse presents a shield - an attribute of gods and heroes, symbol of truth, faithfulness and trust, and a crown in heraldry - a symbol of authority and nobility or chivalry as well.

ALLEGORIES: BRITANNIA & GERMANIA

The first coin from the Allegories features personifications of two historical lands: Germania and Britannia. This time Lady Germania's sword rests at peace in a scabbard attached to her waist and she reaches out her hand in a sensitive gesture to Britannia. Whereas Britannia is surrounded by her characteristic attributes – a Roman helmet with a plume, a shield and a trident, which refers to the former maritime power of her land. We can search for symbolism of these two Amazons in the historical context as well as in the current events.

WARRIORS: ARMINIUS

Arminius changed the course of history, leading to the release of Germania from the rule of another nation. Thanks to his action, the myth of the "invincible" Roman Empire's army fell apart. Arminius was the son of the chief of Cherusci – Germanic tribe. Given away as a hostage to the Roman Empire and educated like noble Romans, gained experience in Roman warfare and was raised as a great warrior. Even though he was brought up to serve the Roman Empire, he never forgot his origins and, deep down, wanted freedom for the people, with whom he was bound by blood. Acting against the learned values and using his skills and knowledge of Roman armies' tactics, he led the Germanic tribes to fight against its occupier.

WARRIORS: ARIOWIT

Ariowit is a legendary Germanic warrior and leader. He came from a brave tribe whose conquests stretched from the former Gaul to the far reaches of the Indian Peninsula. With unprecedented bravery and determination, he forced Julius Caesar to make peace and give away his sister. With Ariowit's strength and powerfully built body, he aroused fear long before the battle began. During the clashes, he gave vent to his innate wild nature, but also to an incredible intelligence. Attacking under cover of night, with his black painted equipment and body, together with his companions he spread terror among enemies through strength, combat skills and a truly hellish appearance.

WARRIORS: BERSERK

Berserk is known for his mad courage and great strength - the invincible Odin's protégé. His most terrifying attribute was a battle frenzy, in which he entered before the battle with the use of alcohol or hallucinogenic mushrooms. In the wild fury he was convinced that he was resistant to steel and fire and that nothing could hurt him. In battle Berserk attacked everything he encountered without distinguishing between a friend and an opponent, wreaking havoc upon the ranks of the enemy. He approached for battle without armor, wearing only a skin of a bear, a wolf or a wild boar. On the one hand, it emphasized his wild nature, and on the other hand, he helped his allies to keep their distance when he was in a fury.

GERMANIA BEASTS: FENRIR & FENRIR GEMINUS

Fenrir - a giant wolf with jaws reaching the earth and sky. The only child of god Loki and giantess Angrboda, who escaped exile and grew up in Asgard, thanks to Odin's fascination with his strength. The beast grew, spreading fear among humans and the gods, who eventually imprisoned him. It was chained with the magical yoke of Gleipnir, made by the dwarves from the stomping of cat's feet, a rock's root, a bear's vein, a woman's beard, fish breath and bird saliva (from now on, women have no beards, cats walk silently, birds don't drool, fish don't breathe and rocks have no roots).

The second edition of the 1 oz coins of the German beasts series will also be available in two versions - 1 oz Silver BU and 2 x 1 oz Silver BU (Geminus edition). Fenrir Geminus 2 x 1 oz Silver BU is a ennobled version, which has been enriched with a selective layer of gold, ruthenium and silver. The coin set will be available in a special double capsule that will show the full image of Fenrir.

MYTHICAL FOREST

MYTHICAL FOREST: LINDEN LEAF

Introducing the third coin in the Mythical Forest series, a tribute to the power and mysticism of trees. The linden tree is a symbol of femininity, life and vitality. In Germanic mythology, it was associated with Freyja, the goddess of love and fertility. The linden is also a tree of lovers, under which they danced and celebrated, so it was planted in the central part of villages.

MYTHICAL FOREST: CHESTNUT LEAF

We are pleased to present you with the second coin from the series "Mythical Forest: 2021 Chestnut Leaf". In European mythology chestnut symbolized human life. To this day, the tree's fruits are attributed with a wide spectrum of healing effects. In witchery, it is considered that after eating, chestnut encourage fertility and desire and that it can be used by women who want to conceive as a charm on men. Chestnut wood can be used to create talismans for justice, success and to gain human sympathy and favor, while keeping chestnuts around the house encourages abundance.

MYTHICAL FOREST: OAK LEAF

Since the dawn of time the oak tree has made a great impression on people, both due its longevity and impressive appearance. The Germanic peoples also treated the plant with greatest reverence. A wreath of oak leaves on the head of Germania symbolizes loyalty, stability and national unity. In the past, only people who wielded enormous power – spirit, muscle or magic, could wear it. Germanians worshiped the oak and believed that ghosts and gods lived inside it. They even sacrificed the tree to Thor – the god of storms and thunderbolts. It resulted from the observations that lightning struck the plant more often without doing any serious damage. Its fruits – acorns, were responsible for fertility, which was one of the magical abilities of an oak tree.

2021 IMPACT MOMENTS METEORITE 2 OZ SILVER HR

The Niue Island - 2021 Impact Moments: Meteorite 2 oz Silver High Relief coin was created by Germania Mint in partnership with Numizzmi. The two companies have teamed up to create a unique coin with a motif referring to the extinction of dinosaurs as a result of a meteorite hitting the earth 66 mln years ago. Each coin contains a piece of this extremely rare fragment of galactic rock called Muonionalusta – a more than 4.5 billion year old meteorite discovered in 1906 in northern Sweden.

The coin has an unusual shape that on both sides symbolizes a meteorite entering the Earth's atmosphere. The obverse of the coin also shows a dinosaur skeleton and an image of Queen Elizabeth II. The reverse depicts a volcanic eruption and a Triceratops – reaching 9 meters in length, one of the most distinctive herbivorous dinosaurs.

Launched in early 2021, the Silver Cast Bars are Germania Mint's first investment product. The bars quickly gained popularity not only among Investors, but also among Collectors. The offer is constantly expanded with products of different weights, sizes and designs.

Silver Cast Bars are engraved with individual numbers and protected by a hologram with an identification code that guarantees their authenticity. Each product is registered in Germania Mint's database, which allows to verify its authenticity by combining two unique numbers – engraved on the bar and placed on the hologram.

The first Silver Cast Bars from Germania Mint were the 999 silver 1000 g Series A bars. Today a full range of gram and ounce Silver Cast Bars is produced exclusively of 999.9 silver (series "B") from LBMA certified sources.

INVEST: COPPER CAST BARS

Germania Mint presents its latest original investment product – Copper Cast Bars. Pure copper is orange-red in color and darkens as it naturally oxidizes, retaining its properties. Since the metal is highly malleable, it looks phenomenal in the form of cast bars from Germania Mint. For their production, we source 999.9 copper grain directly from KGHM – the largest producer in the region.

The bars are double-protected with individual numbers and coded holograms, which can be verified in Germania Mint's product database. To protect them from external conditions, they are individually vacuum-packed and placed in specially designed boxes.

INVEST: SILVER GRAIN

Silver Grain is Germania Mint's investment product released in 2021. The 1000 g version is packed in specially designed capsules, secured with hologram seals and labeled with product specification. The capsules are packed in a Qureco safety box – a 100% ecological cardboard packaging, made with no use of glue or tape. The 10 Kilo Grane is placed in a solid plastic bag, which protects the silver from external factors. A dedicated seal with a hologram and product specification guarantees its originality. The bag is placed in a black canvas sack with the Germania Mint logo.

The superior quality of 999.9 fine silver is assured by sourcing it exclusively from LBMA certified sources.

GERMANIA MINT PACKAGING

PACKAGING: CAPSULES

In our regular offer, we provide capsules for most of the standard silver and bullion coins present in the global market. We also specialize in preparing products of custom sizes and shapes. Our lenticular capsules, in which we pack Germania Mint coins, are widely recognized throughout the numismatic world.

The quality of their workmanship and accentuation of the coin's value through their lenticular shape make them highly valued by Collectors and Investors. We realize how important a capsule is for any precious coin. That is why we use components of the highest quality for production and the capsules undergo strict quality control at every stage. Apart from the capsule itself, we can provide a special protective foam, which will secure it during transport.

PACKAGING: WOODEN BOXES

Wood is one of the most noble materials that perfectly harmonizes with gold or silver in any form. The exceptionally wide range of this material and a variety of finishing options make it possible to perfectly match this type of packaging with virtually any numismatic or investment product. Our wooden packaging offer also includes fully personalized engraving. The wood used to manufacture our boxes comes exclusively from FSC-certified areas.

PACKAGING: CARDBOARD

High-quality paper is an extremely noble material for making numismatic packaging. In combination with state-of-the-art printing technology and a wide range of finishing materials we are able to offer diverse and advanced packaging solutions. Thanks to cutting-edge printing technology, each story can be told in a unique, interesting and aesthetic way.

Awareness of the possibilities offered by properly prepared and executed graphics and the choice of printing enhancements is extremely important. Therefore, for many years we have been developing our own graphic department that specializes in designing graphic concepts for numismatic packaging.

PACKAGING: ACRYLIC GLASS DISPLAY

Acrylic Glass Display is the result of a project aimed at creating from scratch a packaging combining the modern way of presenting the coin with elements made of natural materials. In this case the choice fell on oak wood, from which the base was made, in which the acrylic glass with the coin is embedded. The stand can be made from various kinds of wood and refined in many ways and decorated with a personalized engraving. For greater protection of your numismatic coin, the Acrylic Glass Display has magnetized glass panels applied to the front and back. The finished product is an ideal solution for coins that are to be presented on a continuous basis. An unquestionable advantage of the whole set is the possibility to see the obverse and reverse of the coin, without opening the packaging.

PACKAGING: QURECO

Qureco is an innovative ecological cardboard packaging from Germania Mint. Apart from its ergonomic design and protective functions, Qureco is characterized by aesthetics and modern look. The packaging is made of 100% ecological material - not a single gram of glue or tape is used in the process of assembling the box. Together with the Acrylic Glass Display or Wooden Display, Qureco brings a new intense experience to the Collectors, while providing a modern and cost effective way of securing and presentation of numismatic products.
